THE INCORPORATED COUNCIL OF LAW REPORTING
FOR ENGLAND & WALES

THE LAW REPORTS* (1865 onwards)

Typically The Law Reports covers the cases which introduce new principles or rules of law or modify significantly existing laws.

The Law Reports is the most authoritative series of published reports of cases which constitute binding precedent in English Law. The database incorporates all earlier divisions of The Law Reports as well as the four modern divisions – the Court of Appeal, Chancery, Family and Queen's Bench Divisions.

The Law Reports are written by barristers and solicitors who are present in court for the hearing of the argument and the handing down of judgment. The Law Reports is the only series of reports to include the argument of counsel. Additionally, the reports are submitted to counsel and the judges prior to publication to ensure accuracy and authority.

COVERS CASE FROM:

- Appeal Cases in the House of Lords
- Queen's Bench Division
- Family Division
- Appeal Cases in the Privy Council
- Chancery Division

THE WEEKLY LAW REPORTS (1953 onwards)

The Weekly Law Reports is the basis for The Law Reports, which contains the most authoritative reports available and should always be cited in preference.

The Weekly Law Reports covers substantially more cases in more courts than any other series of law reports. They are recorded by the largest number of reporters who are actually present in court, and are reported faster than any other series.

Volumes 1, 2 and 3 of The Weekly Law Reports are a series of authoritative reports of cases heard in the Superior and Appellate Courts that influence the application and development of the law in England and Wales.

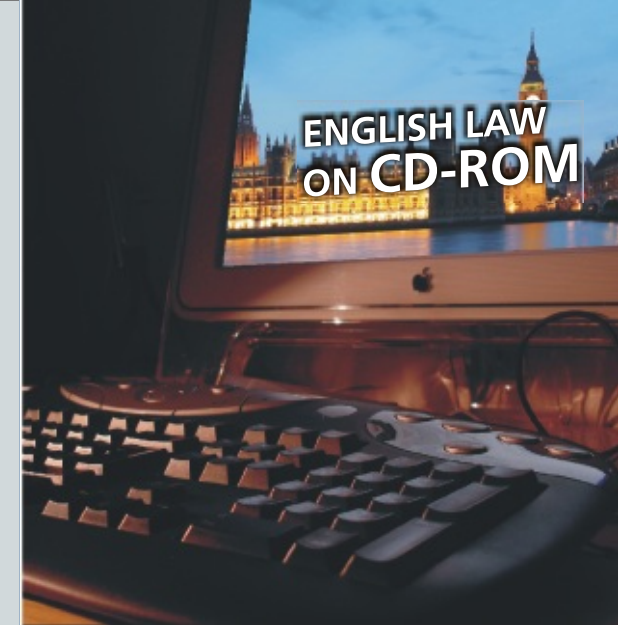

COVERS CASE FROM:

- House of Lords
- The Court of Appeals
- The Employment Appeal Tribunal
- The Court of Justice of the European Community
- Relevant decisions of Ecclesiastical Courts (Religious)
- Privy Council
- All Divisions of the High Court
